Dickies are no longer worn to cover a clay colored shirt bosom.
A woman's special will soon leave New York for a tour of the west in the interest of Mr.
Hughes' campaign. The women are all wives or daughters of millionaires. The voters may draw their own conclusions.

It took Senator Reed something like thirty minutes to gain recognition after taking the oath of office as United States Senator. Some may mis-represent their states for a life time and never be heard from only at election time.

The members of the Missouri Press Association which met in Kansas City last week have much to be grateful for in the hospitality shown them by the commercial club, the Kansas City press, Armour & Co., and the managements of Hotels Meuhlebach and Baltimore.
Nothing was left undone to make the members enjoy every minute of their stay in the city.

Frederick D. Gardner, Democratic candidate for governor, has again demonstrated his good sense by refusing to meet Judge Lamm, Republican candidate for governor, in a joint debate.
Judge Lamm's fifty years experience in public speaking gives him too much advantage over Col. Gardner, whose life has been devoted principally to business matters. The State of Missouri is in need of a business executive rather than a professional debater.

They say Lamm's speeches are "Classics." Lets give him credit for that, but what we want for Governor is a man who knows how many cents there are in a dollar, who knows how to stand up and defend and protect the interest of the tax payers in any sort of rough and tumble fight and is resourceful along business lines, rather than one who can shut himself up in his library for a week, and thus be able to evolve a classic. The Globe-Democrat says Lamm's appeal to Dickey for Jep Howe was a classic. It didn't work.
If his classics don't work with his own bunch, what use have sensible Missouri Democrats for them. Give us a man of works and deeds for Governor, rather than one of classics, and hot air.
Gardner suits the Missourians now on earth.

Miss Mildred Cole went to Dover Saturday for a visit.
Mrs. C. C. Wallace went to Kansas City Tuesday for a

OUR NAVY
The Navy Department seems always to be a political storm center. All recall the bitterness of the Sampson-Schley controversy. Just now the Wilson administration of naval affairs is under bitter partisan criticism.
Against the flood of censure degenerated into abuse, which sensible men have already discounted to something like its real worth, is opposed the deliberate opinion of Admiral Dewey.
He reviews the state of the United States Navy and the Democratic Navy Bill in a lengthy interview, an extract from which is given below.
Against the word of the hero of Manila Bay that of all the politicians in the world will not prevail with the American people.

Admiral Dewey says:
"The attacks that have been made upon the navy are as false as many of them are shameful.
It is not a junk heap. There is no demoralization. Both in material and personnel we are more efficient today than ever before.
Our ships are as good as any, our officers are as good as any, and our enlisted men are the finest in the world.

"It is true we have not enough ships or enough men. But navies are not built in a day. Congress, after all, expresses public sentiment in large degree, and the reason we dropped was because the people wanted the drop. The recommendations of the general board went unheeded because they were not backed by public opinion. Until 1914 people were thinking in terms of world peace. It is different today, and it is today that should concern us."

Admiral Dewey picked up a copy of the Democratic Navy Bill, spread it before him, hesi-tated, as if to measure his words, and said:
"This is the best bill ever passed by any Congress. It takes the five year program of the general board and changes it into a three-year program. It will restore us to second place and enable the United States to meet on equal terms any power in the world save one."

Mrs. Angeline Planchet and

Mrs. Lewis Finds a New Relish In Food Since Taking Tanlac.

Webb City, Mo., Thursday,
September 21, 1916—Mrs. N. J.
Lewis, who lives in the College building, this city, recently gave a remarkable statement for Tanlac, the new medicine.

"I was gradually growing weaker," Mrs. Lewis said. "For a year or more my condition had been very poor. Constipation and kidney and bladder trouble bothered me. My digestion was poor. Gas would form in my stomach after eating, resulting in a sickening sensation that would last for hours.

"I read about Tanlac and decided to try it. I began gaining strength immediately and now I am better generally. My digestion is improved. I relish food that formerly soured in my stomach. I'm gaining weight every day. I want to recommend Tanlac to other women."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being especially introduced and explained in Lexington at the Crenshaw & Young Drug Store.

MISSOURI FARM BOY IS WORLD CHAMPION

"Bob" Simpson of University Sets New Record in National Meet.

Probably there were a few loyal Missourians who until September 9 had some doubt as to whether Bob Simpson, University of Missouri athlete, was the best hurdler in the world, but after his performance that day in the national amateur championships at Newark, N. J., the question was settled.

"Bob," who until two years ago was an unknown country boy from Bosworth, Mo., won his race with distance to spare, beating the best athletes of the United States—and that means the best in the world. He raced the 120-yd course with its hurdle barriers in 14 4-5 seconds, thereby clipping a fifth of a second from A. A. U. record and coming within a fifth of his own record of 14 3-5 seconds for the distance, made at Columbia last spring.

Simpson competed in the national event as a representative of the University of Missouri at Columbia. He returns to the University this fall to captain the Tiger track team and to finish his study of agriculture.
Simpson hopes to become a modern Missouri farmer.

League to Boost University Over State.

The Missouri Co-operative League is the name of a new organization formed at Columbia, Missouri, recently for the purpose of furthering the interests of the University of Missouri.
The members of the League are Columbia business men, alumni of the University and former students. The object is to boost the school and to advertise throughout the state the opportunities offered by its courses of study. Applications for membership have flooded the office of J. R. Somerville, the secretary.

ers and for things you don't actually need, soon melt your pile away.

Put your money in the Bank. It is safe there. Add to your balance every cent you can spare. Soon you'll be "a man with money"
